September 2000
- main area of interest: XXI century capitalism and its structural transformations, with special emphasis in power relationships and cultural changes.
- other interests: development economics, labour economics, history, sociology and economic systems.
- approach of interest: multidisciplinary, drawing inputs and tools from the fields of Economics, Psychology, Sociology, Political Science, Art and History. The above course In Search of Principles for a Life Philosophy (entirely of my design) is an example of this.
