

Pedro Espallat

pedro.espaillat1@esade.edu

Advisor: Dr Marc Esteve

Research Group: Research Group for Leadership and Innovation in Public Management (GLIGP)

Research Interests:

- Public Management
- Contracting
- Public Private Partnerships
- Interorganizational Collaboration

Short Bio:

Pedro Espallat is a Ph.D. candidate in Public Management and Geopolitics at Esade Business School. He holds a Master of Research in Management Sciences from Esade Business School and a Master in Public Administration from Columbia University. He has worked for the International Monetary Fund and was a Harvard Government Performance Lab Fellow with the State of Connecticut. His research interest lies in public management, specifically (i) how can public contracting be more performance and outcomes oriented (ii) how to improve public service delivery, and (iii) how can the private and public sector better collaborate.
